STUDIO FLAT · INTERIOR LAYOUT

Layout options

OPTIONS

A, B and C

PREPARED BY

Mak-Hannah Projects

Three layout options

OPTION A

Single occupant · breakfast bar for two

OPTION B

Single occupant · dining table for four

OPTION C

Couple · sofa bed and bench dining

OPTION A

Layout description

Designed for a single occupant, this studio layout creates distinct areas for sleeping, relaxing, working and dining while maintaining an open, connected interior. Furniture placement and a slatted divider define the zones, allowing daylight from the large window to travel through the space.

The sleeping zone accommodates a permanent bed, with the oak slatted screen providing a degree of privacy without enclosing the area. Alongside it, the living zone offers a comfortable curved sofa and television, with a rug defining the seating arrangement.

A dedicated working zone provides a separate desk for home working or personal use. The kitchen and dining zone incorporates a rounded peninsula that extends the preparation surface and offers seating for two, making efficient use of the footprint.

The entrance zone brings together storage and a practical arrival area, with the bathroom conveniently positioned nearby. Clear circulation connects each zone, supporting everyday use while preserving a sense of openness.

OPTION A

Layout plan

Top view of the furnished studio, designed for a single occupant.

OPTION A

Zones

1 Sleeping
Permanent bed, screened by the oak slatted divider.

2 Living
Curved sofa and television, set on a rug.

3 Working
Separate desk for home working or personal use.

4 Kitchen and dining
Rounded peninsula with seating for two.

5 Entrance
Storage and a practical arrival area.

6 Bathroom
Positioned close to the entrance.

OPTION A · 3D VIEW

Sleeping and living zones

OPTION A · 3D VIEW

Living, working and kitchen zones

OPTION B

Layout description

Designed for a single occupant, this studio layout provides dedicated areas for sleeping, relaxing, working and dining within an open-plan interior. Furniture and a light oak slatted divider define the zones while maintaining open sightlines and allowing natural light from the large window to reach further into the flat.

The sleeping zone accommodates a permanent bed, with the slatted screen offering partial privacy from the entrance. Beside it, the living zone features a curved sofa and occasional tables, anchored by a large rug. A dedicated working zone sits near the window, benefiting from daylight while remaining connected to the main living space.

The kitchen includes a rounded peninsula for additional preparation space and informal seating. A separate round dining table with four chairs provides a setting for everyday meals and entertaining.

Storage and a bench create a practical entrance zone, with the bathroom conveniently located nearby. Circulation routes connect the different areas, supporting everyday use and preserving a light, spacious feel.

OPTION B

Layout plan

Top view of the furnished studio, designed for a single occupant.

OPTION B

Zones

1. Sleeping
   Permanent bed, partly screened from the entrance.
2. Living
   Curved sofa and occasional tables on a large rug.
3. Working
   Desk near the window, in good daylight.
4. Kitchen
   Rounded peninsula with informal seating.
5. Dining
   Round table with four chairs.
6. Entrance
   Storage and a bench.
7. Bathroom
   Positioned close to the entrance.

OPTION B · 3D VIEW

Sleeping, living and working zones

OPTION B · 3D VIEW

Living, kitchen and dining zones

OPTION C

Layout description

Designed for a couple, this studio layout balances shared living with practical everyday use. The open-plan arrangement defines distinct zones through furniture placement, keeping sightlines open and allowing natural light from the window to reach further into the flat.

The living and sleeping zone centres on a sofa bed, providing comfortable seating during the day and sleeping accommodation for two at night. A desk beside the window offers a dedicated workspace with natural daylight.

The dining zone combines corner bench seating with a table and additional chairs, creating a sociable setting while making efficient use of the available space. Positioned alongside the kitchen zone, it provides a convenient connection between food preparation and dining.

The entrance zone accommodates storage and creates a clear arrival area, with access to the bathroom close by. A central circulation route connects the main zones, supporting easy movement throughout the flat and maintaining a light, open feel.

OPTION C

Layout plan

Top view of the furnished studio, designed for a couple.

OPTION C

Zones

1. Working
   Desk beside the window, in natural daylight.
2. Living and sleeping
   Sofa bed: seating by day, a bed for two at night.
3. Dining
   Corner bench seating with a table and chairs.
4. Kitchen
   Placed alongside the dining zone.
5. Entrance
   Storage and a clear arrival area.
6. Bathroom
   Positioned close to the entrance.

OPTION C · 3D VIEW

View from the entrance

OPTION C · 3D VIEW

View from the kitchen side

The options compared

	Option A	Option B	Option C
Designed for	Single occupant	Single occupant	Couple
Sleeping	Permanent bed behind a slatted screen	Permanent bed behind a slatted screen	Sofa bed for two
Living	Curved sofa and television	Curved sofa and occasional tables	Sofa bed doubles as daytime seating
Working	Separate desk beside the sleeping zone	Desk near the window	Desk beside the window
Dining	Peninsula seating for two	Peninsula seating plus a round table for four	Corner bench with table and chairs

INTERIOR DESIGN · CAMBRIDGE