DESCRIPTION

Originally a mansion house and formerly the residence of John Ireland the composer, Inglewood became a select development of apartments with the addition of a substantial new built retirement wing and is for occupation by those 55 years of age and over.

Positioned on the top floor, there are commanding tree lined views in a southerly direction. In addition, the open plan living space benefits from a dual aspect to create a naturally light interior. The delightful communal grounds are certainly a feature being laid to lawn, unusually large and well screened, all of which combines to establish a private and peaceful setting.

Approached via the communal reception area from which there is a lift to the upper floors, the accommodation is superbly proportioned and presented throughout. Upon entering the private entrance hall has provision for storage and leads into an elegant sitting/dining room. The sitting area benefits from a fitted media unit with display shelving and an adjacent dining area provides ample space for a table and chairs. The adjoining kitchen is fitted with Shaker style units complemented by wood effect work-surfaces and integrated NEFF appliances.

There are two excellent bedrooms, one of which has been replanned to create an impressive dressing room with contemporary fitted furniture. Completing the interior is a well appointed and fully tiled shower room/WC with white sanitary-ware and chrome fittings.

Gas fired central heating has been installed together with double glazing throughout.

Externally there is resident parking and this particular apartment also has a single garage.

The location is highly favoured being positioned within the Bowdon Conservation Area and well placed for the comprehensive shopping centre of Altrincham with its thriving Market Hall and Metrolink station which provides a commuter service into Manchester and the surrounding areas.
