HMRC changes have put a much greater emphasis on the importance of both buyers and sellers complying with very stringent regulations associated with anti-money laundering. Due to the gravity of this and the potential serious financial penalties for not complying, Hunters take this very seriously and do not wish to place either ourselves, or clients in a difficult position. On that basis you will be contacted by a third party firm to carry out these checks for a fee which will indemnify both you and us from any future prosecution. Their name is Coadjute and there is a charge of £45 per individual named on the purchase.
