Tucked away, nicely private and with a front garden you can actually use... this one has a lot going for it.

Welcome to Lennox Close, where this three-bedroom end-of-terrace home occupies a prime, secluded position within the ever-popular Chafford Hundred development — close to the station, but tucked away enough to feel like your own little corner of it.

Step inside and there's a welcoming entrance hallway, a lovely-sized lounge/diner with plenty of room for family life and entertaining, a modern kitchen and that all-important ground-floor WC. Because nobody wants to be sending guests upstairs.

Up on the first floor you'll find three nicely proportioned bedrooms and the family bathroom, giving you a layout that works just as well for a growing family as it does for anyone needing a home office, dressing room or occasional guest space.

Now, let's talk outside space — because this is where things get interesting.

Thanks to the home's unusually private position, the large front garden isn't just there to look pretty. Landscaped with artificial grass, it's a genuinely usable extension of the home where the kids can play, you can sit outside, and you're not staring straight onto a busy road. A front garden that earns its keep.

Out back, things are equally easy. The low-maintenance rear garden features a decked seating area and patio, giving you plenty of space for summer dinners, weekend drinks and the inevitable barbecue.

There's also direct access from the garden to the garage at the rear, with parking immediately in front — another box firmly ticked.

Three bedrooms. Great outside space. Garage and parking. A tucked-away position. Chafford Hundred station close by.

Private when you want it. Connected when you need it.

Lennox Close might just be one to see before somebody else does.
